Proposal:

Reorganization of BS programs:

“merge Bachelor of Science in Tourism & Outdoor Leadership with Bachelor of Science in Recreation Resource Management to offer BS in Tourism, Recreation and Adventure Leadership”

CPS# 98569

CIP: 31.0101

Oregon State University College of Forestry

“BS in Tourism, Recreation, and Adventure Leadership”

Summary: The program has:

- * a 31-34 credit core curriculum
- * a required option
 - * OSU-Cascades: Nature, Eco, and Adventure Tourism (NEAT) and Adventure Leadership Education (ALE)
 - * Corvallis, the Sustainable Tourism Management (STM) and Outdoor Recreation Management (ORM)
- * reduced total number of options from 9 to 4 (embedded proposals)

Rationale:

- * Primary recommendation of review TOL program review team.
- * Opportunity to update/revise course offerings and content to align with Tourism industry needs and student employment opportunities.
- * Consistent with focus of new Asst. Professors.
- * Increased opportunity for inter-campus student movement and faculty interaction.

“BS in Tourism, Recreation, and Adventure Leadership”

Faculty / Program Administration: Program will be delivered by existing faculty; outdoor equipment already available; dedicated advisors are already in place for the TOL and RRM programs – they will transition to TRAL program. FES director (Troy Hall) will remain as director for TRAL degree, with Michael Gassner will remain as program lead in OSU-Cascades.

Anticipated Start: Fall 2017

Letter of Support/Liaison: Forest Service, Oregon Parks and Recreation; all liaisons were supportive of the program.

CC Review and Vote: CC has reviewed and has unanimously voted to approve the program (April 11, 2017).
